

Our Progress Plan

When someone in the family home is experiencing physical or mental ill health, living with a disability or has a difficulty with drugs or alcohol, being able to talk to one another and thinking of ways to keep safe and happy can really help.

Planning ahead can help you manage any changes by being prepared, knowing what to do and who to ask for help and support.

Our Support Network

We all have the right to be feel safe and there is nothing so awful we cannot talk to someone about it. Our support network will listen to us, believe us and do something to help us.

Wellness Tools

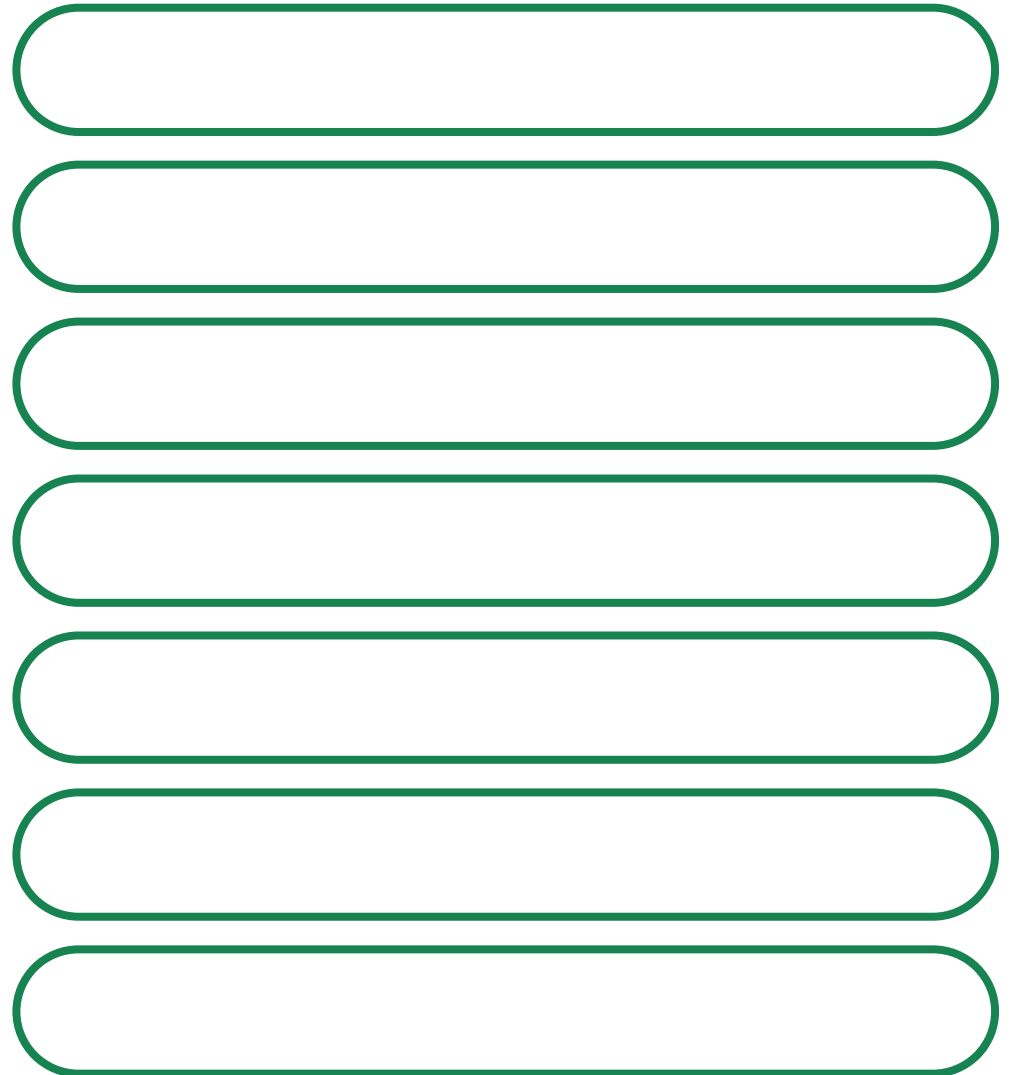

Things you can do that will help when things are not going so well or you're not feeling great - i.e., speak to someone in your support network.

Eight horizontal rounded rectangular boxes with orange outlines, stacked vertically, intended for writing wellness tools.

Daily Wellness Tasks

Things you can all do on a daily basis to keep you all well, i.e., what you eat, how much you sleep.

Eight horizontal rounded rectangular boxes with green outlines, stacked vertically, intended for writing daily wellness tasks.

Triggers

Is there a person, place or situation that could cause you to experience a negative feeling or behave in a certain way? E.g. an anniversary of a loved one passing?

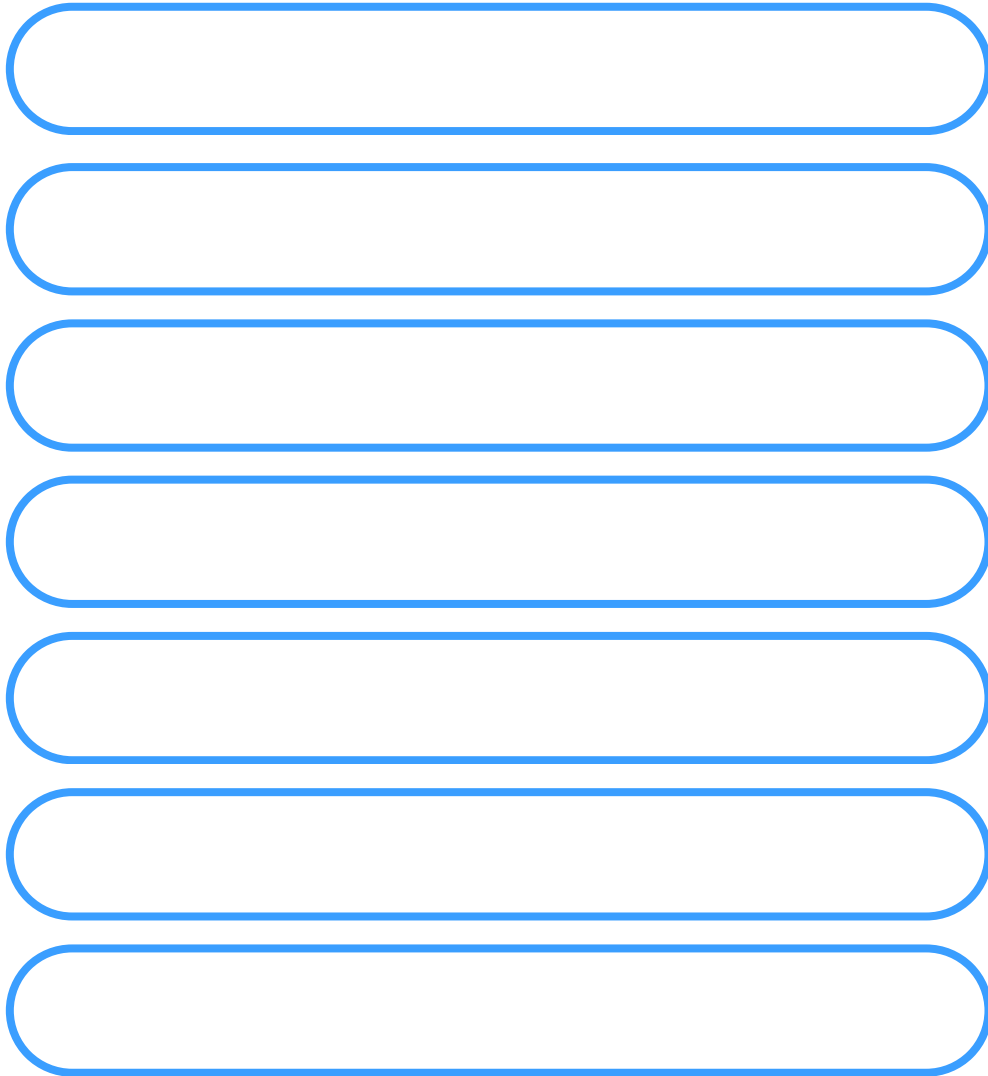

Trigger Action Plan

What actions can each of you take to help reduce the likelihood of a trigger happening? Or, if it does happen, what can you do to reduce the impact it has on you?

Early Warning Signs (EWS)

Early warning signs are a way of our body telling us we feel unsafe/unsure. An example might be butterflies in our tummies. Early warning signs could also be what we see/observe in others that makes us feel unsafe/unsure, i.e., Mum sleeping more, which could be a sign she is struggling with her mental health.

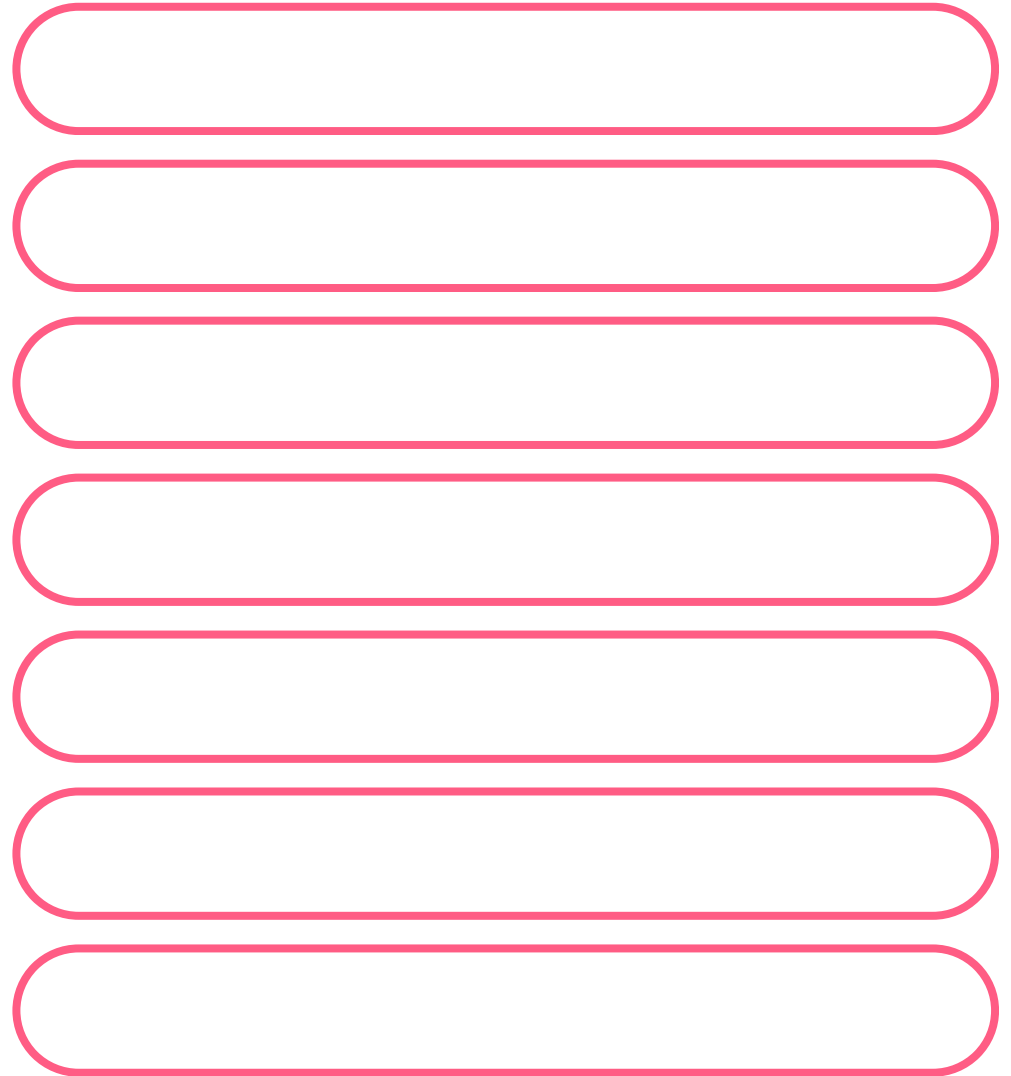

What early warning signs do you have?

Seven blue rounded rectangular boxes stacked vertically, intended for writing early warning signs.

EWS Action Plan

What actions could each of you take if you experience early warning signs?

Seven pink rounded rectangular boxes stacked vertically, intended for writing an action plan.

When things get worse

What would life look like and feel for each of you if things became worse?
